

SUMMARY STATEMENT

State v. Wolfe

Docket No. 46194

The Supreme Court affirmed a Canyon County district court decision granting Monica F. Wolfe's motion to suppress evidence obtained from a cell phone that law enforcement unlawfully seized. The Court held that the State failed to preserve the issue of whether the independent source doctrine applied to the case, and therefore, the State was barred from arguing application of the doctrine on appeal. Because the State's argument relied exclusively on the unpreserved issue, the Court affirmed the district court's decision granting Wolfe's motion to suppress.
